Transition to Professional Member status is open to anyone who has been an Interest Member of the Tarot Guild of Australia for at least three months. If you have not yet joined the Guild, please complete the application form in Attachment One.

In summary, the Guild believes professional Tarot readers should be able to:

- demonstrate a sound understanding of the meanings usually ascribed to each of the 78 cards in the Tarot deck
- make meaningful connections between cards to build an interpretation based on the symbols and images in the Tarot cards
- use one or more Tarot spreads to interpret cards in a way that makes sense to the client
- communicate with clients in a way that produces a positive experience for clients and for themselves as readers
- respect their clients' values and right to self-determination
- abide by the Tarot Guild of Australia's Code of Ethics in their professional practice (see Attachment Three).

Transition process

After submitting the Transition application form (Attachment Four) and paying the fee of $85, you will receive the Transition paper by email or in the post. You have up to two months to complete the paper, which can be submitted electronically as a Microsoft Word document or handwritten.

You will also be given the names and contact details for your three assessment panel members, who are Professional Members of the Guild. Two of these will be available as your personal mentors to answer any questions you might have about the Transition process, e.g. to clarify the intent of questions in the Transition paper.

In addition, you are required to:

- Complete 20 readings for clients, family members or friends. The readings, which can be as short as 10-15 minutes or as long as 45-60 minutes, should be documented on the log sheet provided in Attachment Two. Where possible, ask people for their telephone numbers. As part of the assessment process, we may call a couple of your people to verify that the readings took place.

Note: We recommend that you have your log of readings at least 50% complete before you apply to do Transition.

- After you have completed the Transition paper and log of readings, either a telephone discussion session will be organised between you and two panel members, or you will receive written feedback. The aim of this is to provide feedback on what you have submitted so far and, if necessary, ask further questions based on your paper.
- Complete three Tarot readings of approximately 20 minutes duration - general, career and relationship: one reading for each of your three assessment panel members. Where possible, readings should be face-to-face, but telephone readings are also acceptable.

Please note: Your panel members will contact you after they receive your completed Transition paper to organise times for these readings. (The Guild will cover all costs associated with telephone readings). You are expected to conduct the readings as you would for a 'real' client. You can use any deck and any spread for these readings.

Other forms of evidence

The Transition process may be tailored to accommodate individual circumstances. Whilst most candidates for Professional membership will complete the process as described above, the Guild recognises that some Tarot practitioners may be able to produce other forms of evidence to demonstrate they fulfil one or more of the criteria listed on page one.

Please contact the President of the Tarot Guild if you would like to present specific material in support of your application for Professional membership.

Assessment, certification and beyond...

- As soon as possible, after you have submitted your paper, you will be contacted by telephone for a feedback discussion on your paper. After this you will be asked to read for your panel members. Following the readings, you will be notified of the outcome of your application.
- Successful applicants receive a certificate that entitles them to advertise their Tarot services as Professional Members of the Tarot Guild of Australia Inc.
- Professional Members are entitled to a free listing as a Tarot reader and/or teacher on the Tarot Guild's website. This list is sent to any member of the public who enquires about Tarot readers and teachers.
- Professional members have permission to use the Tarot Guild logo

Good luck! We look forward to welcoming you as a Professional Member of the Tarot Guild of Australia.

Code of Ethics

Purpose

The purpose of this code is to establish and maintain standards for Tarot practitioners, who are members of the Tarot Guild of Australia, and to inform and protect members of the Tarot Guild of Australia, and to inform and protect members of the public seeking and using their services.

Requirement

All members of this Guild are required to abide by this code. They thereby accept a common frame of reference within which to manage their responsibilities to clients, colleagues, members of this Guild, and the wider community. This code aims to provide a frame work for addressing ethical issues and to encourage optimum levels of practice.

The Nature of Tarot

The practice of Tarot is a non-exploitative activity. Its basic values are integrity, impartiality, and respect. The practitioner's role is to facilitate the client's journey in ways which respect the client's values, personal resources, and capacity for self-determination. Practitioners should take the same degree of care to work ethically whether their services are paid or voluntary.

Professional Behaviour

Practitioners undertake the following:

- To uphold the integrity of the Tarot as an enduring source of wise counsel, spiritual guidance, and as a pathway to self knowledge.
- To remain open to the acquisition of new skills.
- To take all reasonable steps to monitor and develop their own competence and to work within the limits of that competence. This includes having appropriate and ongoing supervision and/or consultative support for their work.

- To pursue their own personal development.
- To maintain their own effectiveness, resilience, and ability to help clients.
- To monitor their own personal functioning and to seek help and/or withdraw from the practice of the Tarot, either temporarily or permanently, when their personal resources are sufficiently depleted to require this.

Colleagues

- To conduct themselves in their Tarot-related activities in ways which elicit public confidence in their role as a practitioner and in the work of other practitioners. It is not appropriate to undermine the work of others.
- To discuss problematic readings/clients, should the need arise, with a trusted colleague, adhering to the principle of client confidentiality.

Public Statements

- To adhere to the policy that all official or legal statements concerning the Tarot Guild of Australia must come from the President after s/he has consulted with the Committee of Management.

Confidentiality

- To treat confidentially all personal information about clients, whether obtained directly or indirectly by inference.
- To ensure that discussions about particular consultations within supervision and teaching take place without revealing the client's identity.

Practitioner/Client Relations

Pre-Consultation Information

- To be responsible for communicating accurately the terms on which their services are being offered (eg. availability, confidentiality, fees, cancellations, and any other significant matters) before the consultation takes place.
- To inform the client of the interpretive nature of the Tarot and ensure that they understand the power of their own free choice.

Client Protection

- To have as first priority the well being of the client, to endeavor to enhance the client's self understanding, and to inspire hope and courage.
- To use the Tarot for the empowerment of others, i.e., to work in ways which promote the client's control over his/her own life, and to respect the client's ability to make decisions in the light of his/her own beliefs and values.
- To refrain from imposing personal judgements and prejudices during consultations.

Referral

- To recognise their inability or unwillingness to work with a client and make appropriate referrals.

Relations between Guild Members

- To respect, support, and encourage fellow members in their pursuit of Tarot wisdom.

Hanged Man Clause

The Committee of Management reserves the right to assess the professional behaviour of members when called to question. A formal procedure has been developed.

Members of the Tarot Guild of Australia accept and abide by these guiding principles. Professional Members are required to sign a statement indicating their willingness to do this when they acquire their Professional certification.
